"Mother, why do we never get to ride in those nice cars?"

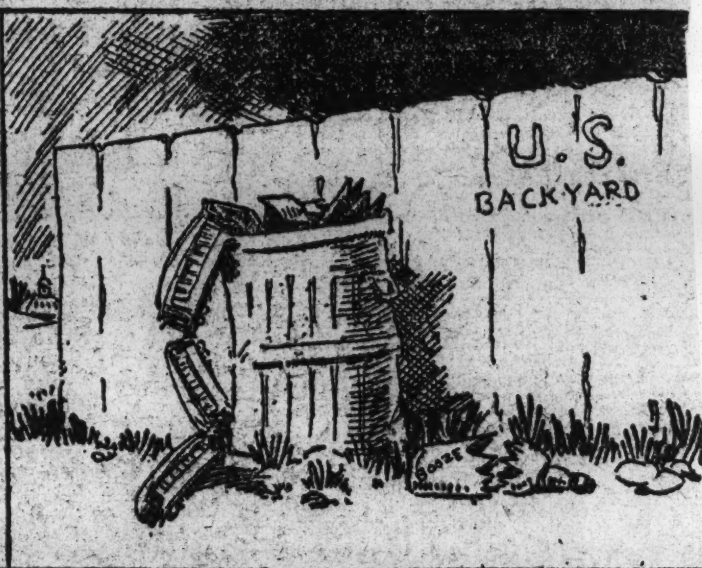

When the color line has faded into oblivion, and men of all races hold respect for one another, as was intended in the beginning—

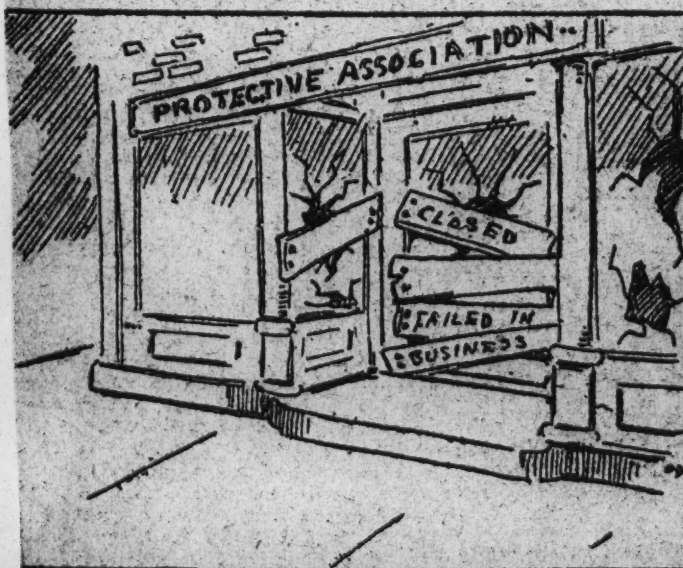

When flames of the lyncher's torch shall be extinguished, and smoke from the human pyre shall cease to ascend to the sky—

When race riots and mob-law shall remain only upon the pages of obsolete history—

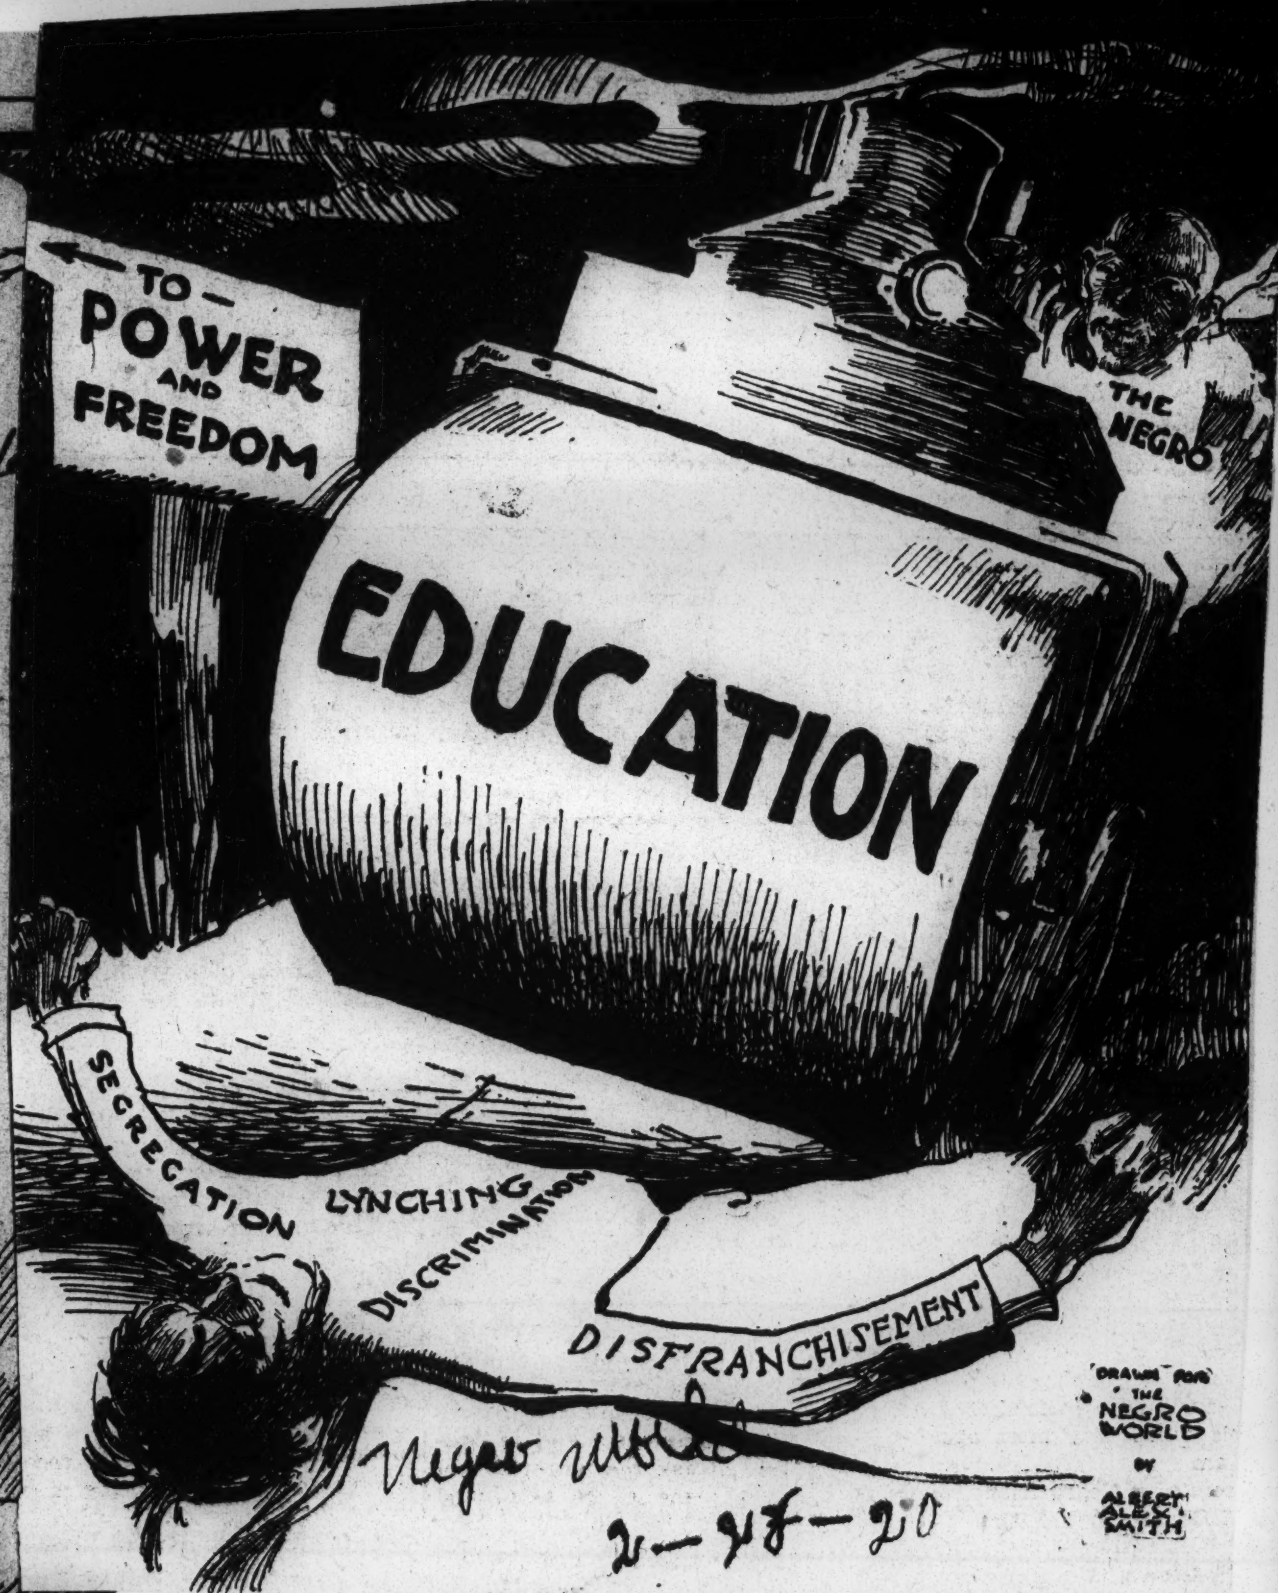

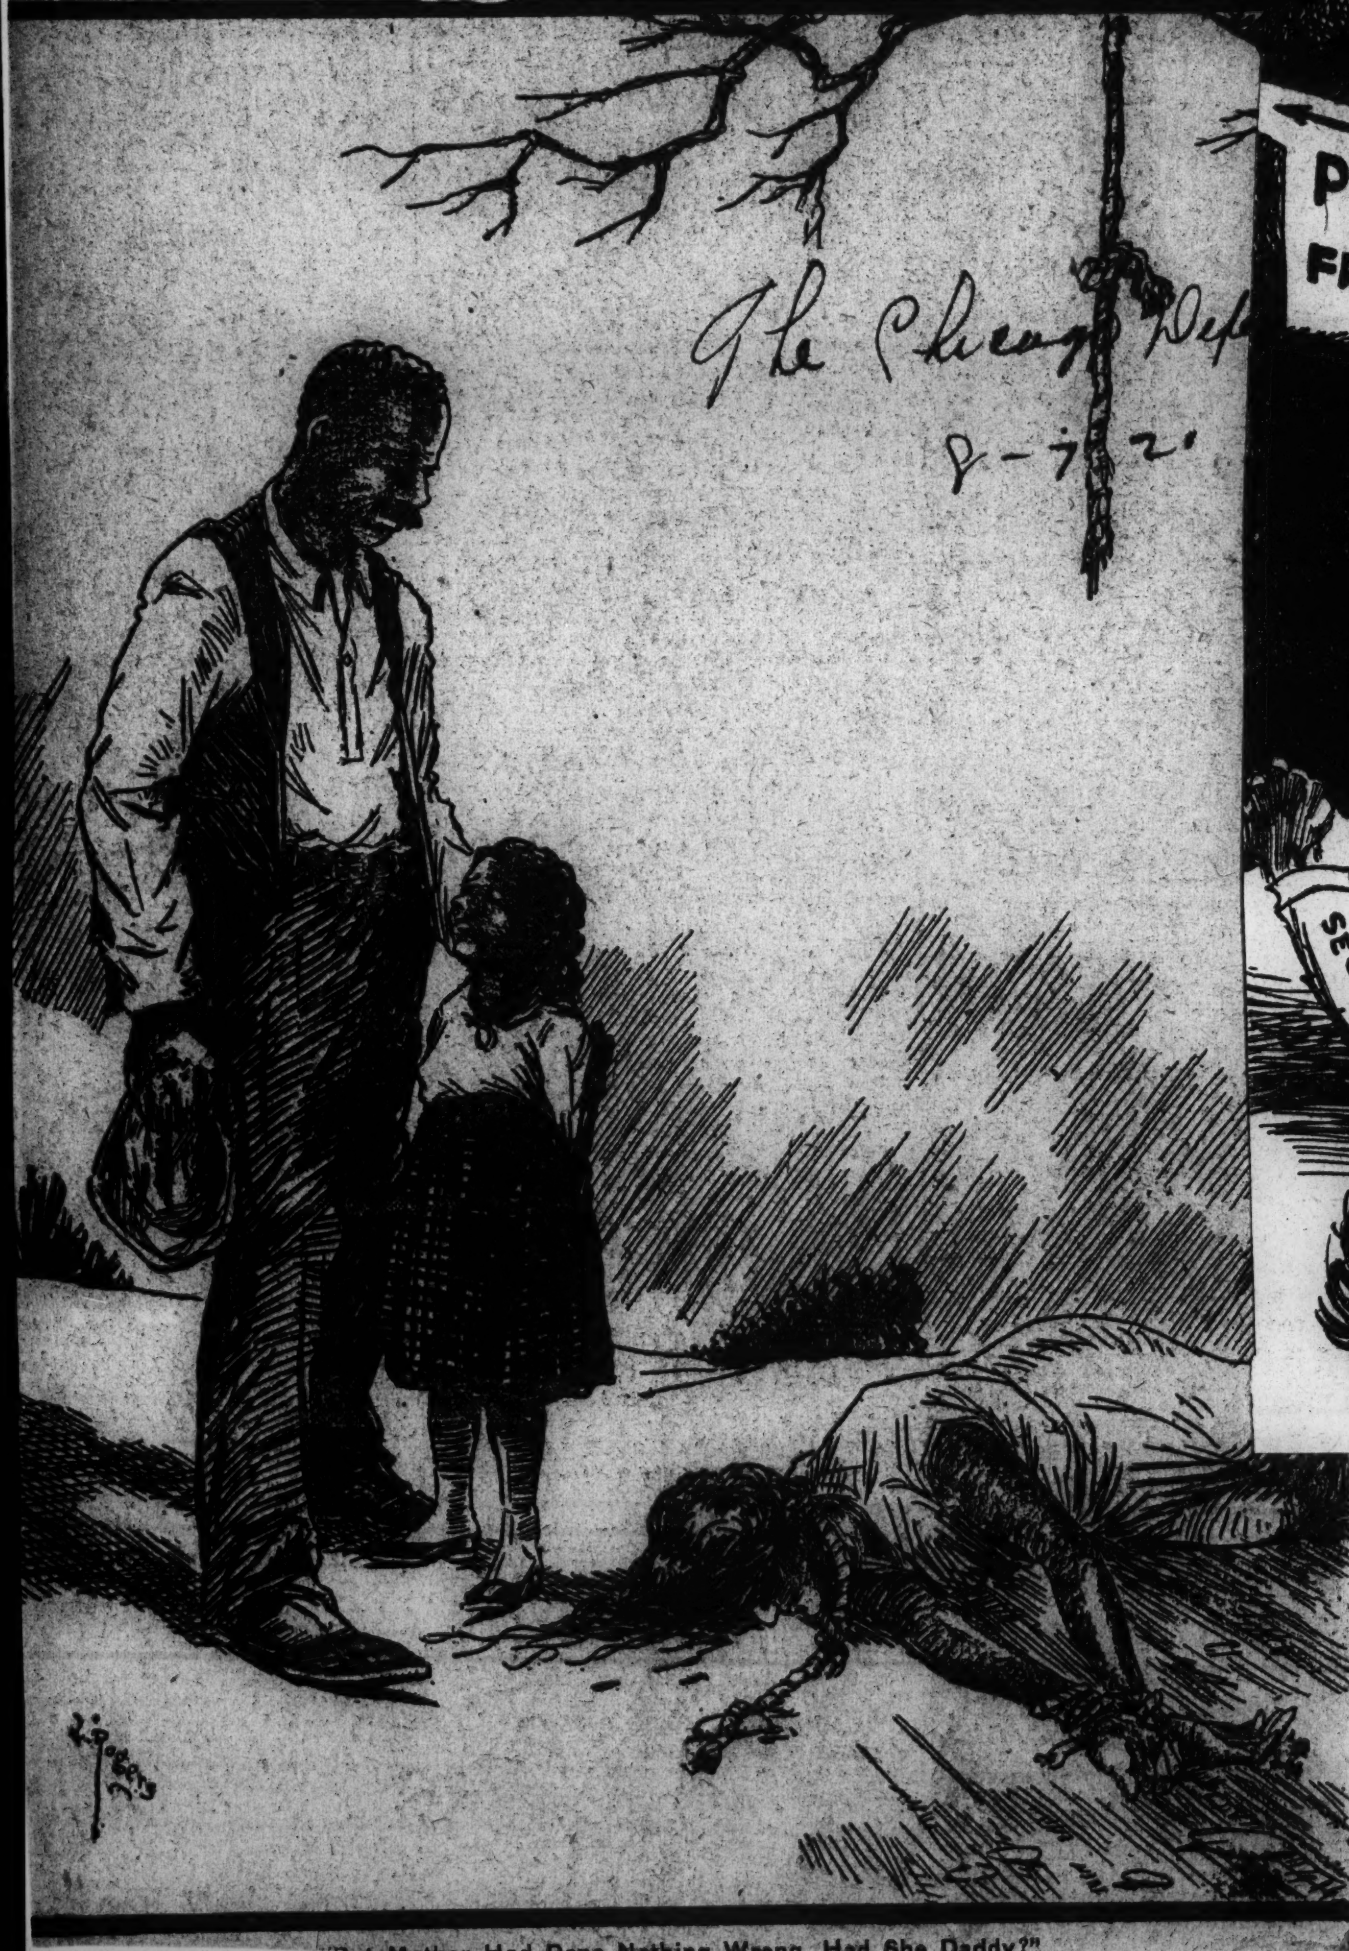

When America's curse, the Jim-Crow car, shall have taken its place on the dump-heap beside booze and other blemishes upon civilization—

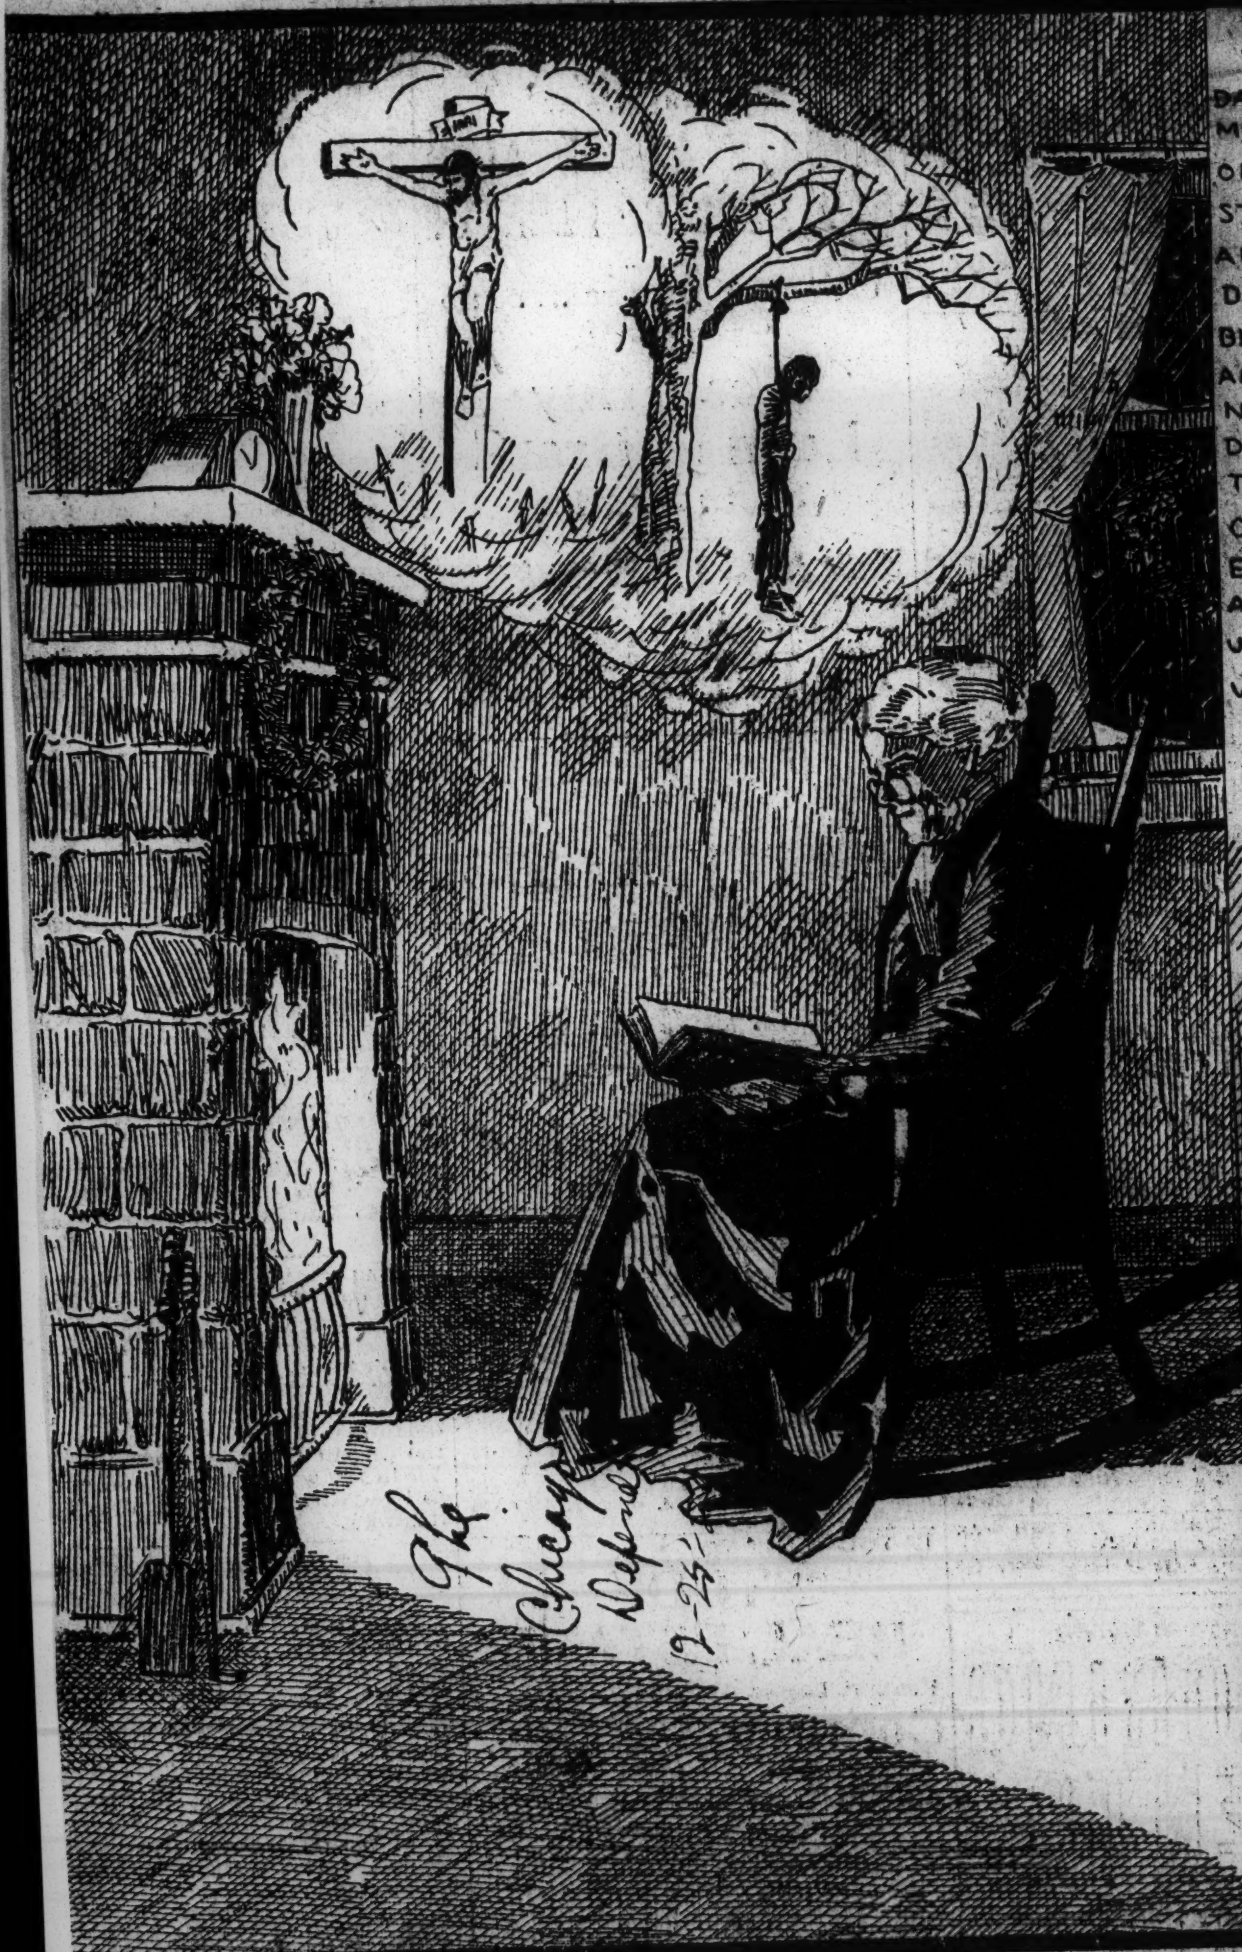

When bomb-throwers hiding behind the guise of "Protective Associations" shall no longer imperil the lives of our innocents, and all forms of segregation have vanished—

Then shall the Angel of Peace hover above this, the land of the free, and the sublimity of our Constitution shall be recognized by all nations.

WELL! DON'T

KEEP ON WAITING

PROMISES made during a political campaign are supposed to be forgotten after the election. This is the theory of the politicians. Most people know what political promises are worth. Negroes, however, are likely to believe everything they hear before the "bones" are rolled—a fact which the politicians did not overlook last fall when they told the negroes of the South they would be rewarded the same as their colored brothers of the North, if they helped put in a new National administration.

Having taken all these promises seriously, the negro now fails to see the joke, and this is responsible for some of the unrest noted lately.

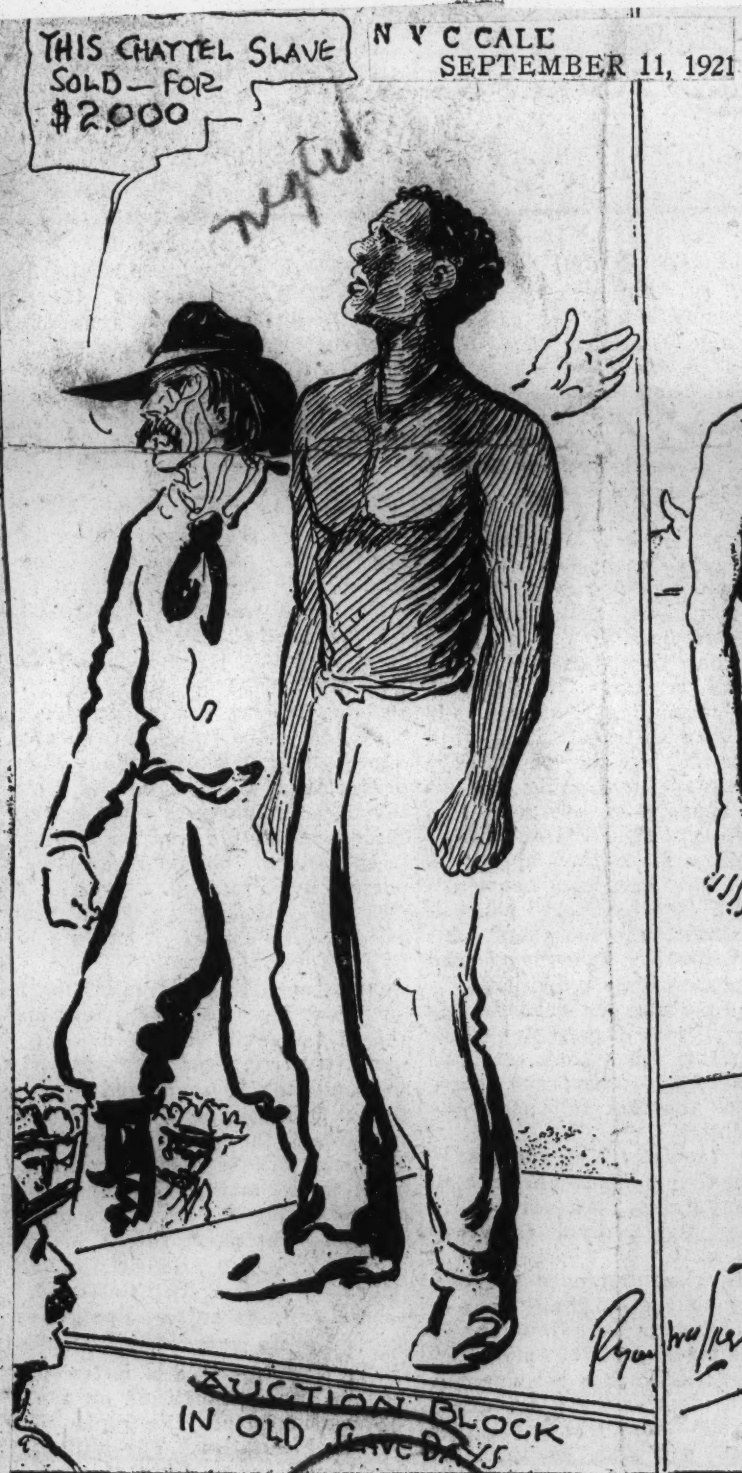

During the war, with the scarcity of white labor in the North, negroes were imported from the South by thousands. Now many of them have found themselves without jobs and surrounded by people who do not understand them. They will have to work their way back to the South as rapidly as they can. And the sooner the negro realizes that all the white man up North wants of him is his vote, the better off he will be.

THE OLD STORY OF THE APPLE AND THE WORM

The Pittsburg Courier 6-9-23

From the Memphis Commercial Appeal.

The above cartoon was taken from one of our very influential southern journals. The idea conveys so accurately the true picture of our national life, we take the liberty to pass it on to our readers.

Not many days ago, the President of the United States took occasion to speak of factionalism in the country. He might have said 'prejudices' and his words would have carried quite the same message. He referred to the Farm Bloc in the Senate; he intimated enough to lead some to believe he had the Ku Klux in mind when speaking of the "anti-law" organizations. He spoke of the liquor issue, and urged obedience to the Eighteenth Amendment. His remarks carried one into the labyrinth of factions, divisions, prejudices, classes, creeds and what not.

Each faction, division, creed, or by whatever name seems most fitting, attracts less attention when operating separately than all factions, divisions, or creeds would, if they operated in unison and in conjunction. Each little evil is a worm unto itself. It operates separately and independently of other evils of similar character, but the damage done by each constitutes the sum total of harm done to our civilization.

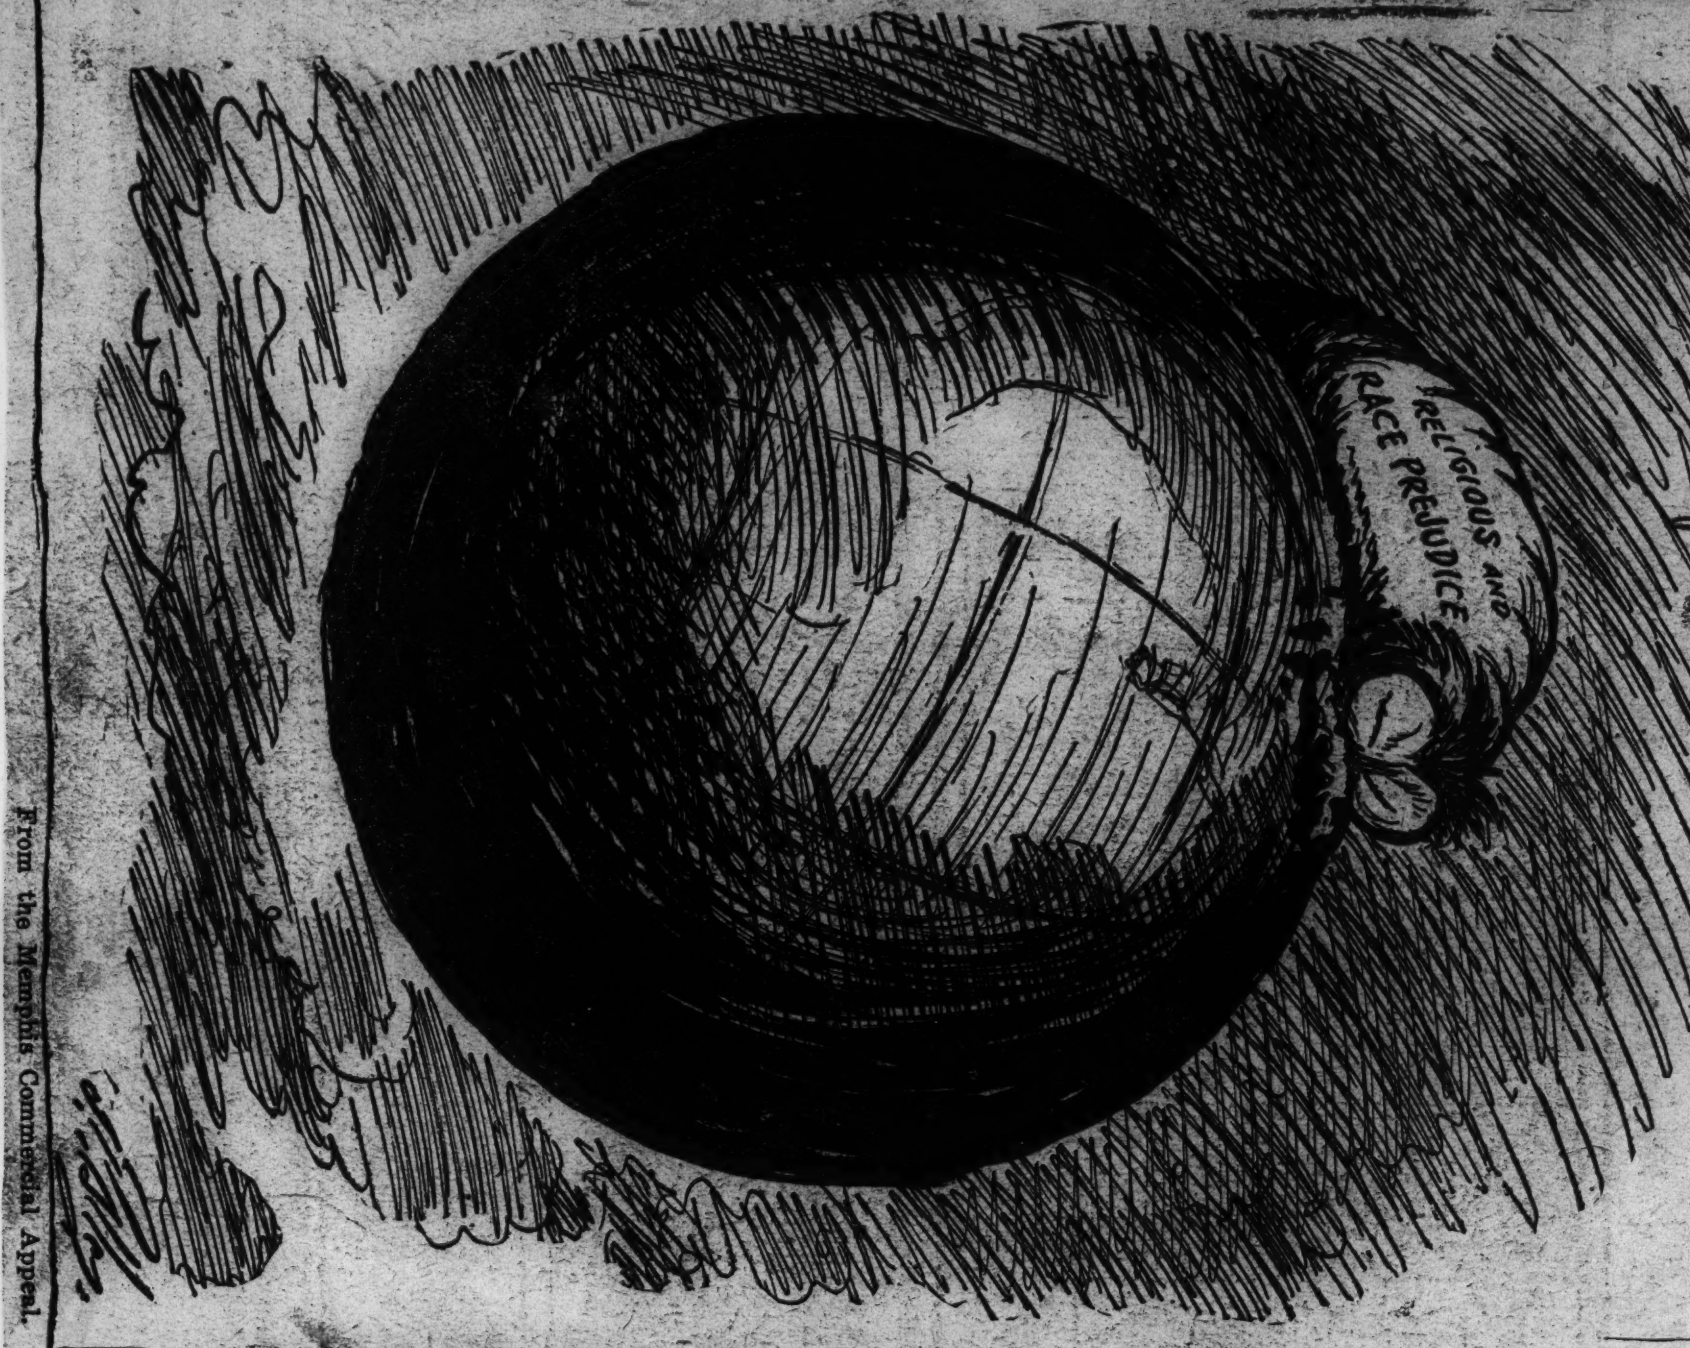

The United States has several worms, but the most vicious in its attack, the most deadly of all, is its worm of race prejudice. We refer to race prejudice without regard to color prejudice. There is a deadly prejudice in this country. It is eating away the very life of the country. There is a class prejudice, a prejudice in religion, and we might enumerate to the point of infinity and absurdity. Every where we turn, we see the WORM; and he is eating as ravenously at one place as at another. The common aim of all the WORMS seems to be the ultimate ruin of the NATION.

And no one seems to sound the alarm. On all questions, including those of purely theoretical import, we have apostles parading the world with a message of warning. But the WORM seems to have no organized opposition. He eats on and on without disturbance. Hatred, greed, prejudice, caste, class, religion, deceit—all are worms on the apple. Who will save the apple?

TWO MONUMENTS

One in America—the Other in France

AT MIAMI, FLORIDA

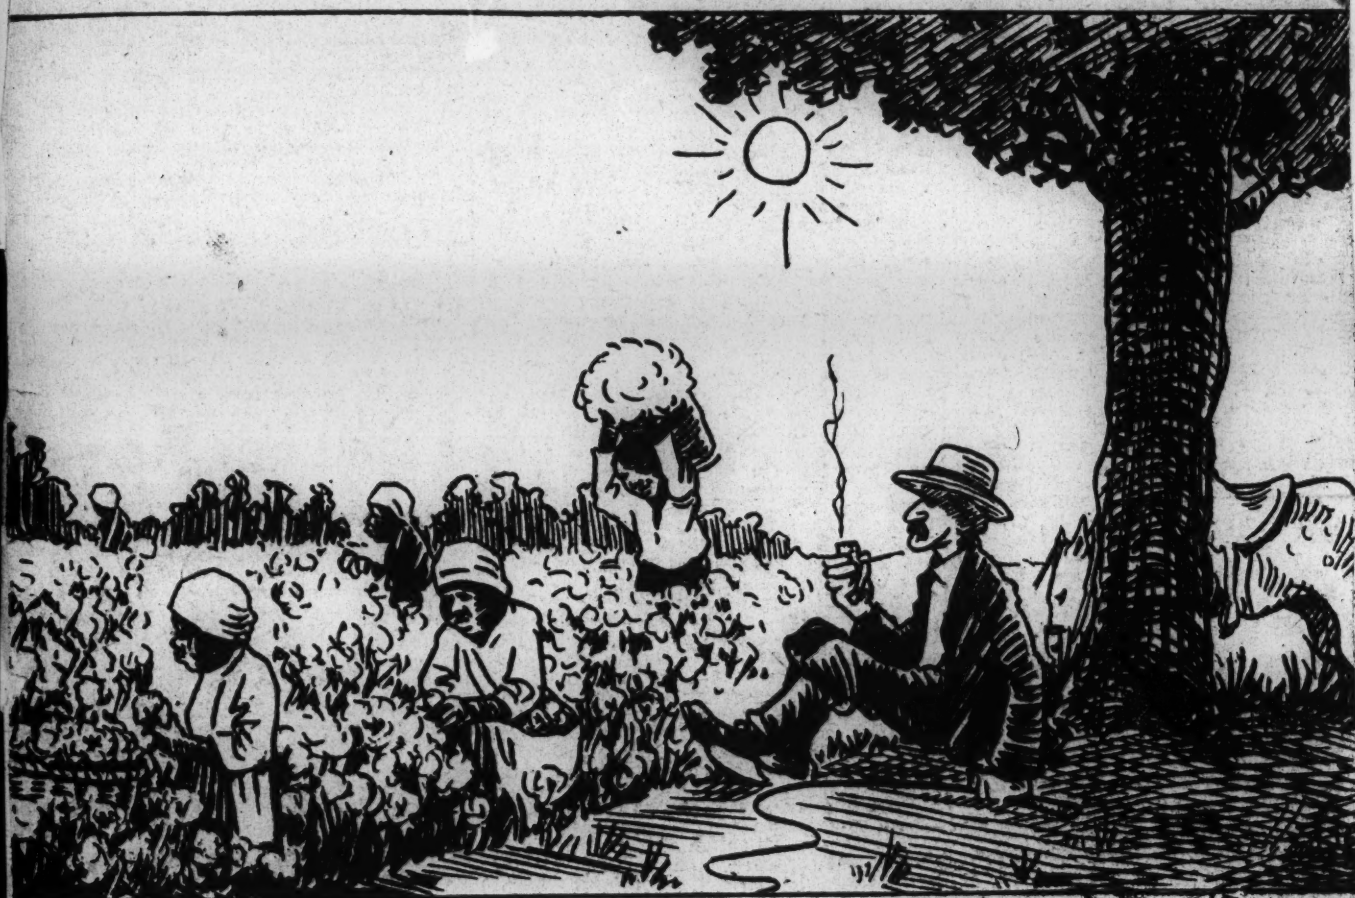

Read the message on the monument at the left, erected to the memory of our people in the streets of Miami, Fla., and you get the spirit of America. It was made in Florida and bears the trademark of the U. S. A. Then focus your attention on the one to the right, made in France, and erected to the memory of the black troopers who fought so gallantly for the country that gave them unrestricted freedom—socially, politically and economically. Who fought for real democracy, America or France?
